The money market was easier, and while the extreme rates on call were again quite wide apart, ranging, as they did, from 7 down to 2 and closing at 3 per cent, there was a tendency to more steadiness at intermediate figures. Thus there was very little done at 7 per cent, nearly all the loans of the day having been made at 5 a 8 per cent on stocks and at 4 a 5 per cent on governments. The real onsiness of the market was on this latter basis. loward the close of banking hours there was the asual pressure to lend on the part of those who had noney over, and the rate, as noted above, declined momentarily to 2 per cent, reacting eventually to 3 THE LONDON MONEY MARKET

Is reported firmer and the street rate to be now within 14 a 14 per cent of the bank rate of 8 per cent. Our five-twenties were a shade lower for the day, the '67's closing 92%, as against 92% on Saturday, but consols were steady and Eries a trifle

Foreign exchange was dull and quiet and rates nominally as before. But such business as transpired was done on the basis of 108% for prime pixty-day sterning and 110% for sight sterling. These rates and the steadiness of gold are leading to a generous supply of commercial bills drawn

Prime commercial paper is quoted 9 a 12 per cent discount, with dealings at 10 a 12 per cent.

GOVERNMENTS BUOYANT. The government bond market was buoyant and strong with an advance in prices ranging from one quarter to three-quarters per cent, the improvement being all the more remarkable as gold de. clined about a quarter per cent. The greatwhich are in active request for investby corporations compelled by law to their funds in government They sold at 113% as against 112% at the opening. The accrued interest upon them is nearly 2 er cent, which brings their price down to about 1114. As they have about twenty-five years to run they are, in the estimation of many, the they will have the advantages of the prospective resumption of specie payments within the next few years. The advance in the prices of the fivetwenties is such as to preclude any Treasury purchase of bonds on Wednesday, and render it prob able that Mr. Boutwell will make ANOTHER CALL OF BONDS at an early day as the only means of maintaining the process of reducing the national debt. The five-twenties are now so scarce and the price of them so rigidly fixed at the minimum of par in gold that without a panic or some severe distress them at par in gold, for, maybe, the rest of the present administration. The gold market was heavy under free sales against the export of domestic merchandise, the outward movement of which absorbs the full supply of ocean freight room, and under liberal offerings on this account the price yielded from 112% to 112%, closing at 112%, the speculative sentiment being at the same time quite bearish, despite the ruling of the discount rate of the Bank of England. STOCKS ACTIVE, HIGHER AND STRONG. At the Stock Exchange it was an old-fashioned "bull" market, in which everything went up and didn't come down again, much to the chagrin and stage of the rise, in hopes of securing the profits of the usual reaction, were doomed to money-losing disappointment. Indeed, the speculative fraternity, the pools and the cliques who are organizing with mushroom growth all over the street, in one after another of the active list of stocks, are at this

DISCOUNTING THE NOVEMBER ELECTION, the re-election of President Grant and the perpetuation of the present financial policy of the administration, with its bond-buying, gold-selling and debt-reducing features. As early as Wednesday last, the day succeeding the election in Pennsylvania, the present course of the stock market became a matter of as much certainty as the determination of anything lying in the future. Given an administration in power, and from the result of an indexical election in one State likely to remain in power for four years more; pledged by past and present conduct to the maintenance of

AN PARY MONEY MARKET and committed to a policy of cancelling and refunding the national debt-given such an administration, and, further, a stock market not so high as to be incapable of easy "bulling," and we have the premises for a strong argument in favor of an active and popular speculation for a rise in prices. The making of the conclusion to the syllogism has been going on ever since Wednesday morning lastindeed, perhaps since Monday a week ago, when the administration tossed ten millions of money into Wall street to break up the speculation for a decline and stop that the United States Treasury had been drawing money all the year from the public into its vaults and would not now loosen the purse strings when the scarcity of money was blocking the wheels of commerce the whole country over. The future, kowever, has been determined for those who so eagerly seek to learn the future-viz., the speculative element of Wall street and the community in general. The government has been and can be relied upon to keep money easy, and the same government is, by reliable signs, promised a longer tenure of its power. The chief advance to-day was in Western Union, which rose 214 per cent, to 7614,

LAKE SHORE Northwestern, St. Paul, Rock Island and Pacific Mail, which advanced 1 a 11/2 per cent. The point has been generously circulated that Lake Shore would be unable to pay the February dividend in 1873, owing to a falling off in the earnings, and hence the recent depression to 86 a 87. The very reverse of this report is the truth. So far this year the earnings have been at such a rate as will make the total for 1873 very nearly $18,000,000, even withfreight business this Fall. Estimating the operating expenses at the outside limit of 65 per cent, there would be left, after paying interest on the bonds and 8 per cent on the stock, a surplus of over half a million dollars. The trade movement was rather slow to-day, but values were generally unchanged. The compara-tively low ruling of gold exerted but little influence, except in its tendency to bring prices down to some settled basis. Trade marts were less sensitive than they were a week ago, and the longer radical gold fluctuations can be avoided the more settled will commercial matters become. The export movement continues very moderate, and the lower rates for freight and charters now current fail to stimulate any considerable increase, as it certainly plethors of freight room, but the falling off in the demand for room occasions greater competition and necessitates a reduction in rates. There was still an active export movement in cotton, under which the market assumed a still firmer tone, and prices ruled in sellers' favor. On 'Change flour was quiet, but steady, while wheat was in moderate demand and prices rather favored the buyer. Corn was firmer under a good export demand, which enabled helders to obtain a slight improvement There was a brisker movement in provisions, and pork was considerably higher, though rather quiet at the close. Freight room was in little demand, and rates generally favored the shipper. Vessels for charter were wanted, but only at a reduction from recent rates. There was a good demand for cotton, particularly for lots on the spot, and the market closed firmer at %c. per lb. advance in prices. In the grocery market the bulk of the transactions were confined to raw sugar, and the market, taken as a whole, was firm throughout. There was but little inquiry fer petroleum, yet former prices were yet current. Naval stores, under a moder

COLORED ODDFELLOWS.

Anniversary of the Past Grand Master's Council No. 1.

A Great Day for Freemen-A Parade Through the Streets, a Mass Meeting at Cooper Institute and a Promenade Concert at Adelphi Hall.

The 14th of October was a great day for Africa and her sons. Not since the celebration of the Proclamation of Emancipation has there been a procession of such dignity and significance as that brilliant in display, but in its ranks walked men of the best class of their race, and who left conscious, as was every keen observer, that it was a mark of a step in advance even of that progress which owed its origin to the great act of the martyred President. The good fruits of freedom were, so felt and knew each citizen of color, slowly becoming matured; and that they might be recognized by the spectators of the demonstration his step was prouder and firmer as he trod the rough and mudencrusted pavement, and was animate with a conscionsness of power and disnity.

The twenty-eighth anniversary of the organization of the Past Grand Master's Cou cli No. 1 of the Grand United Order of Oddfellows fell on yesterday. In this city the Order is of some Importance, and forms part of those institutions which colored men are fostering under the belie, that they are the means for their further elevation. The celebration of the day began early in the morning, when every tawny face was lighted with pleasure, and family preparations in their households went

The procession of the different lodges which took part in the demonstration was formed on Fifth avenue, near the corner of Tenth street, and the mea began arriving at this point as early as half-past nine. At ten o'clock the ranks were formed; at tweive the procession started. The sidewalks were througed by colored people, and for once the aris-tocratic equipages were excluded from the Betgravia of New York, where were assembled the members of a race that had not long been lifted from the serrows of oppression. The high stoops of the brown stone residences presented the strik-ing picture of masses of dusty faces, rising one above another, glistening with gladness and ex-

THE PROCESSION.

The procession set out in the following order:—
First there came four mounted Marshals, in the regalls of the Order, with blue sashes across the right shoulder and with drawn swords; then the celebrated colored musicians, the Mount Vernon Band, from Wilmington, Del.; then the Grand Master's Council, No. 1; next the Western Star Lodge, 1,443, of Chicago; the Philomathean Lodge, 712, of Albany; the Star of Rethienem Lodge, 970; of Wilmington, Del. Lodges from New York and Brooking:—Philomathean Lodge, 836; the Ogden Memorial Burial Association, Hamilton Lodge, 130; Teny Lodge, 900; Howard Union Lodge, 1337; Alphas Lodge, 1,381; two German bands, placed apart a hundred yards between ranks; the Past Grand Master's Council of Philadelphis, No. 2; a large truck drawn by six black horses and loaded with Master's Council of Philadelphis, No. 2; a large truck drawn by six black horses and loaded with the Morning Star Lodge, 1,470, of Weeksville, and carriages containing citizens.

The little girls; the Morning Star Lodge, 1,470, of Weeksville, and carriages containing citizens.

The little girls in the huge truck were most of them quite pretty, but were engaged in the reprehensible occupation of chewing molasses candy for the greater part of the rout. The truck was decerated with an immense Brittish flag, over which were carclessly thrown the American colors, and on each side hung a white scroll with the inscription:—

THESE ARE OUR JEWELS.

The people looked at this wagon in wonder, at loss whether to cheer the sentiment of the motto The people looked at this wagon in wonder, at a loss whether to cheer the sentiment of the motte of to laugh at the little girls who were chewing melasses candy. So they did both alternately. A large banner, borne by the Ogden Memorial Burial Association, displayed the portrait of Peter Ogden, the founder of the order in America. Another lodge carried a beautiful sitk flag which was presented to them just as they started by two ladies, whose names were inscribed on its folds. Three small banners were inscribed on its folds. Three small banners were inscribed on its folds. Three small banners were inscribed by the officers. The ark was borne after the manner of the Hebrews, that it might not be touched and defiled. The ranks were blazing with the full regain of the Oddfellows.

The route taken by the procession was down fifth avenue, through Washington Parade Ground to South Fifth avenue, to Frince street, to Canal Street, to Broadway, to Fourteenth street, around the Washington and the Lincola monument, through Fourteenth street to Fitta avenue, to East Thirty-fourth street, to Madisos avenue, to Twenty-third street, to Fourth avenue and thence to Cooper Institute.

In South Fifth avenue the crowd was very thick.

and thence to Cooper Institute.

In South Fifth avenue the crowd was very thick, and was wholly composed of colored people. Not less than twenty thousand were out of doors. When the procession passed through Woosted street, where the loity tenement houses overhaag and overshadow the sidewalks, every window could boast of at least five protruding heads, and the scene was interesting in the extreme. A dark bugleman of the Mount Vernon Band leaving the ranks for one moment, might have been seen leasing on the railing of a stoop and paying his respects to a beauty, dusky as himself, who was full of the excitement and lervor of the occasion, and whose eyes glistened with the roguish languor that Marryatt has painted so successfully. Cheers filed the air as the body of five hundred fine-looking colored men turned into Canal street, and then bevies of work girls leaned out of the windows of undergarmean manufactories and jeered at them glibby; but the accents of their reckless tongues iell unheard and unheeded. Broadway stopped its interminable stream for fifteen minutes to allow the small but proud procession to crush in and roll along with the current, and its heartless pave was crowded with mulatto beauty and manhood, to the exclusion of the rushing men of business, who were vexed to have their furried errands impeded by the exultation of an emancipated race. But it moved on with its steady assertion of manhood up the long, thundering thoroughfare, to the feet of lancoin at Union square, where a snout went up from hearts as well as from lips. Then it went ou, and, returning, reached the doors of the Cooper Institute at about three o'clock.

EXERCISES AT COOPER INSTITUTE.

The mistake of the occasion was that a fee of admission was charged those who wished to attend the exercises in the Hall of the Enion, and in consequence one-quarter of the seats were vacant. The men of the procession filled the middle of the hall, and in the other parts were large numbers of ladies. The Mount Vernon Band was stationed on the pist nourishing and cherishing it wherever it could find a foothold.

Addresses were made by Past Grand Master William C. H. Curtis (the orator of the day) and Rey. John Peterson; twoballads were sungley Mme. Julia Riceber, a dusky cantatrice, who complained of hearseness, but strangs to say, not of shriliness, and the Mount Vernon Band played the crashing march of "General Von Molkes" with deafening effect. The cheering raged then like a tempest. The exercises were closed, and the procession, being reformed, marched to Cottage place and Houston street, where it was dismissed.

A promenade concert was given last night at Adelphi Hall, which was a crowded and brilliams shur, and closed the great day for Africa with mirth and gayety.
